We asked for balmy summer-time; for gentle flowery spring;
In fact, in place of winter, we would take most anything.
We prayed for open street cars; for cozy shady spots;
We yearned for daisles, buttercups and sweet for get-me-nots.
We fromed on frigid weather, and we swore at blocks of ice;
We wanted sultry atmosphere at almost any price.

them out.
We hold that we are a citizen of the whole city, and as such we shall cost our vote as often and in as many different places as we may see fit.

And when the congressional fight comes along-well, we'll see about that later,

There will be no ice gorge in the James River this year, despite the fact that the base-ball games in Boston were stopped by a snow storm. Therefore, we fear the new bridge across Mayo's Islam will be delayed. In the interests of Ben Metzger, however, we hope that new bridge will be a reality some day, for we want to go down to the island to catch some fist, and we are afraid of the present strucand we are afraid of the present struc-ture with the load we expect to have.

Charlie Reinecke's exhibition of wrest-ling at the Casino was a revelation to us.

It was clean cut and clever, and Pro

at was cean cut and cheer, and re-fessor Dwyer, himself, was forced to acknowledge that he was the best he ever tackled.

We are glad Reinecke is to live here, for we think that every community should have a good man like that to rep-resent the physical culture and athletic sentiment.

least (we can sing some.

We used to sing in the village choir when we were a young man, and we haven't got over the habit yet.

OF HUMAN INTEREST; STORIES OF TO-DAY

The Old Salt's Affection.

An amusing story is told of an old seaman on one of the United States cruisers in the North Atlantic squadron. He was not a person of wide affections, but he had a warm place in his heart for a young ensign, who had been kind to him hi many little ways.

One day a landsman fell from the rigging to the water, and as he could not swim, he would have been drowned but for a young officer, who sprang in after him and held him up till assistance came.

Later the young officer received o com-plimentary letter from the Secretary of the Navy. Every one rejoiced but the old seaman; he coveted the letter for his seaman; he coveted the letter for his ensign.

"That's a nice thing to have, a letter like that, he said a fow days latter.

"You' ought to have one."

"I don't quite see how I can get one," nughed the ensign.

"Well, see here," said the old man, eagerly. "To-morrow night I'll be in the main chains fussing with something or other, and I might fall and you could jump after me."

"That would be very goed of you," said the ensign, gravely; "but you see I'm not a good swimmer by any means."

"Ho! that's no matter," said the old seaman, "I'll hold you up till the best comes."

How He Caught the Train.

How He Caught the Train.

A South Missouri exchange tells of a traveling man who stopped one night in a hotel in a small Ozark county town, and asked to be called at 3:20 o'clock so that he might catch a train. In order to accede to the guest's request, the landlord had to remain up all night, as he had no clerk and no alarm clock. He found it hard to keep awake, and when 3:30 o'clock inally did come he was in a surly frame of mind. Knocking on the guest's door, le said: "Gilt up. It's 2:30." In a sleepy tone of voice the guest replied: "Oh, I guess fill let, that train go and sign till 7 o'clock." "Well, I guess not," said he landlord; "I've stayed up all night to gilt you up, and you're gon' to gil up." The guest caught the early train.—Kansas City Star.

Commonwealth's Attorneyship. Richardson will not be a candidate for re-clection to that position, which is to in-filled at the November election of 1965 Aircady there is task of candidates for the position, and a number of well known lawyers of the younger element at the har have been suggested as probable can-didates. Among them are colonel (corse Wayne Anderson, Mesers, Minetree Folkes, Hunsdon Cary, John Garland Fel-lard and others. The competition for the place promises to be lively when the race begins.

You may shirk, but you can't escape the obligation of voting in primaries. Do it right now.

We kinded because our coal was gone; because our coal was gone; because our coal was gone; because our coal was thin.

We asked for winter to go out, and summer to begin.

We asked for some good buttermilk and sweetpotato ple:

We sought once more to greet the gay and festive little fly.

We wanted some more to greet the gay and festive little fly.

We wanted some mengulioes, too, to sing us to sleep at nights—

Through all these things we only asked what seemed to be our rights.

But now our mind has switched about, for summer-time is here,

And Mister Lerch has failed to send another case of beer.

We can't put up our overcoat, a patch is on our pants;

So give us some frozen air, we'd rather take the chance

Of keeping warm by chasing after street cars on a hill—

Oh, come back Mister winter, winter, please, of heat, we've had our fill.
